PANEL ON ISRAEL

Mortimer Zuckerman

Mortimer Zuckerman is a magazine editor, publisher, and real estate billionaire. He is currently the Editor-in-Chief of U.S. News & World Report, publisher and owner of the New York Daily News and he is co-founder, chairman of the board, and director of Boston Properties Inc.

Zuckerman was born in Montreal, Quebec, Canada. He entered McGill University at the age of sixteen and after receiving his B.A. in 1957, he went on to obtain an LL.B. from McGill in 1961.

Zuckerman then attended the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, earning an M.B.A. from Wharton.

After Wharton, Mort Zuckerman received an LL.M. from Harvard Law School and went on to teach at Harvard Business School for nine years. He has also taught at Yale University.

Zuckerman spent seven years at the real estate firm Cabot, Cabot & Forbes. In 1980, he purchased the literary magazine The Atlantic Monthly, where he was Chairman for almost twenty years. In addition to his publishing and real-estate interests, Zuckerman is also an active supporter of Israeli and international Jewish causes. He chaired the Conference of Presidents of Major American Jewish Organizations and celebrated the State of Israel's 60th anniversary with President Bush in Jerusalem.

Zuckerman serves on the Board of Trustees of several educational and private institutions such as the Aspen Institute, Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, New York University, and the Hole in the Wall Gang Fund. He is a member of the JPMorgan's National Advisory Board, the Council on Foreign Relations, the Washington Institute for Near East Policy, and the International Institute for Strategic Studies.
