DON'T WASTE YOUR VOTE ON BIG GOVERNMENT AND WASHINGTON INSIDERS.

NEWT GINGRICH

After Newt Gingrich resigned from Congress, he was paid $1.6 million by the government sponsored enterprise, Freddie Mac. A major public lending institution, Freddie Mac's practices helped create the housing crisis. Gingrich said he was advising them in his capacity as a "historian." But Americans have had enough history with insiders who use their previous service to make a quick buck.

"I'm not sure he's as conservative as some people think he is."

- Speaker John Boehner (ABC News, 12/15/2011, "Newt Gingrich: Big Spender")

RICK SANTORUM

Rick Santorum sold out his conservative principles in 2004, endorsing fellow Insider and Liberal Senator Arlen Specter over True Conservative Pat Toomey. Years later, Specter switched to the Democratic Party and was the deciding vote in passing Obamacare into law.

"You questioned my judgment, and you have every right to do so..."
